HOW FRIMPLE'S GOT ITS NAME

Our story begins in 1950, when two little sisters were brought to their mother's attention by a busy little daughter. Their father was making sugar Frimples, and he thought it was time to give their new restaurant a name. He decided to call it "Frimple's" in honor of his daughters. The restaurant, located at 1701 State Street in Santa Barbara, California, quickly became a favorite among locals and tourists alike. Today, Frimple's remains a beloved institution in Santa Barbara, offering a wide variety of breakfast and lunch specials, as well as a cozy lounge for enjoying cocktails and light fare.

For more information on Frimple's, please visit their website at www.frimples.com or call 805-962-3671. Located at 1701 State Street in Santa Barbara, California, Frimple's is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Suddenly her mother was so taken by the little slip of paper, she hid it in the mantelpiece, and it remained hidden for a long, long time. One day the little sister's father was at home trying to think of a name for his new restaurant. Suddenly he remembered the little slip of paper behind the picture on the mantelpiece for safekeeping. After a while the little slip of paper was forgotten, and it was left hidden for a long time. One day the little sister's father was at home trying to think of a name for his new restaurant. Suddenly he remembered the little slip of paper behind the picture on the mantelpiece, and knew immediately that he'd discovered the name for his new restaurant. So, in honor of his daughter, he added the name "Frimple's" to the name of his new old-fashioned restaurant. "J. K. Frimple."
