Saga of the Bounty

Way back in history, dissatisfaction with the quality and quantity of the food served aboard the H.M.S. Bounty to its crew, led to one of the most romantic and famous mutinies of the sea. On April 28, 1789, in the South Pacific, acting mate Fletcher Christian and his mutineers seized and cast adrift the H.M.S. Bounty's skipper, Lt. William Bligh, along with eighteen loyal officers and crewmen. Captain Bligh and his gallant crew miraculously made it to Timor Island while the Bounty with Mister Christian and his fellow mutineers returned to Tahiti and later Pitcairn Island, to live the good life in their chosen paradise.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio filmed this saga of the sea with Clark Gable and Charles Laughton many years ago. The movie makers graciously gave us some still prints of that film. They are featured in the Bounty Lounge and the Captain's Bridge for your nostalgic pleasure.

We trust you will, unlike the crew of the H.M.S. Bounty, be thoroughly pleased with the quality and quantity of our food and return to see us often. Thank you for your patronage and happy sailing.
