THIS WEEK AT UHWO

a bulletin for UH West O'ahu faculty and staff

Week of July 14

Summer Music Works ends with emotional hōike

The free UH West O'ahu Summer Music Works program, created and taught by Dr. Jon Magnussen, recently completed its five-week session that culminates in a Summer Hōike \(show\) where high school student participants perform original songs composed during the course. Students recorded original works and were inspired by local musicians who participated in the program including Willie K., Henry Kapono, Dean Taba and Kalehua Krug. They also toured the music programs at Honolulu Community College, Leeward Community College and UH Mānoa and learned college success skills. Summer Music Works was recently featured in a UH System video "Music program for high schoolers has ear for higher education" and on Hawaii News Now and KITV on Thursday, July 3, featuring an interview with student participant Skye Gionson discussing her original song performance. Congratulations to Summer Music Works founder Dr. Jon Magnussen on the successful completion of another incredible summer making music and inspiring students to attend college after high school. 'Ulu 'ulu to participate in Hawai'i Digital Resources Symposium, Aug. 1

The UH West O'ahu 'Ulu 'ulu Henry K. Giugni Moving Image Archive of Hawai'i will present information on current digital projects and collections available for student and faculty research during the Hawai'i Digital Resources Symposium at UH Mānoa on Aug. 1. The symposium highlights the efforts of organizations in Hawai'i in providing Open Access Digital Resources, building collaborative relationships between those digitizing resources, and promoting digital resources for the study of Hawai'i history and culture. The symposium is presented by the Hawai'i Digital Newspaper Project in collaboration with the UH Mānoa Hamilton Library, and will take place from 1-4 p.m. in Hamilton Library on Aug. 1. 'Ulu'ulu will be presenting along with the Hula Preservation Society, Ulukau Hawaiian Electronic Library, and the Hawai'i Digital Newspaper Project.
