

CANE ACREAGE HITS 9029

The area under cane at Ewa reached a new high during July with the tally showing 9,029 acres at the end of the month. According to Manager Ed Bryan, this increased acreage is the result of a concentrated effort to develop all possible land in the plantation area to offset losses to highways and housing developments. He noted that some of the added land is of poorer quality than some of the land lost or to be lost and it will take more acres to produce the same amount of sugar. But, says Manager Bryan, by use of overhead irrigation and efficient methods all round he is confident that the additional acreage will produce economically enough to preserve the profitability of the plantation. He explained to the Hurri-Cane that if the plantation did nothing and allowed its area to be whittled away, the fixed expenses of the plantation would have to be divided among fewer tons of sugar raising our cost per ton to an unprofitable level. He congratulated those responsible for obtaining and developing the new land, primarily the Construction, Diversified Agriculture, and Field Departments, and for developing the additional water sources which make it possible to use them. He feels that their work is a great contribution to the security of the plantation and of individual employees.

Some of the plans for this district which will eventually consume caneland are the defense highway from Waimanalo to Kunia Road which was supposed to have started last year, the dividing of Farrington Highway along the same route and the dividing of Fort Weaver Road all the way to Ewa Beach either through Honouliuli or Ranch Road.

Beets Expanding Also

During 1963, there were 59 operating beet sugar factories located in 14 states, according to the latest statistics furnished by the U.S. Beet Sugar Association. In addition, one more factory is scheduled to open this year.

Colorado has 12 factories with a daily total slicing capacity of 25,400 tons of beets but is the leader in daily slicing capacity with 39,600 tons.

Given normal growing conditions, beet sugar production could easily exceed 3,500,000 tons by 1965.

Carnival Notes

From the Carnival Committee...

Good progress is being made in stocking the Country Store shelves. However, Dot Winsley and her committee would like to create a bigger than ever bargain emporium, so--they will accept anything that can be sold. They are also asking for empty paper sacks and cartons in all sizes.

Mrs. Igarashi and her ladies' group will begin their "zabuton" project within the next two weeks. The colorful "zabutons" made by experts will be sold at the Country Store at the usual bargain price.

The Commercial and Industrial Exhibits section is expected to be bigger and better this year. An added feature will be the Leeward area's first automobile show.

Quality Product

California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation has received a citation for "noteworthy performance in the production of a quality product" from the Department of Defense.

C & H is the only sugar refiner ever to receive the citation which is one of 10 awarded to firms selected from 3,500 organizations which supplied food products to the Defense Department in 1963.

The refining firm, owned by Hawaii's sugar plantations, earned the citation on the basis of its quality control of 165 successive lots of sugar valued at $2.9 million purchased by the department last year.

The 1963 crop was about 3,100,000 tons, compared to 1,100,000 tons for the Hawaiian Sugar Industry.

In April the Secretary of Agriculture filed with the Federal Register a Determination setting fair and reasonable wage rates for all persons employed in the production, harvesting and cultivation of sugar beet crops. Hand labor rates were increased from $1.05 per hour to $1.15 per hour.

Your Safety

Tools will work for you the best they know how--IF YOU let them work for you the best you know how.

Put the right tool on the job--treat 'em right and use 'em like an expert. They will then treat you right.

Here are five good ideas to remember, Selection, Use, Condition, Care and Storage.

THEN NOTHING WILL GO ON THE BLINK!

Welcome Home

PFC Robert Pagdilao arrived last week from Fort Bragg, North Carolina to spend a thirty day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Pagdilao of Middle Village.

After his 30-day leave, PFC Pagdilao will report to his new duty station in Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Aguilar of Fernandez Village who welcomed a daughter on July 25, at the Ewa Hospital.

Candace Raynae Aguilar weighed 9 pounds 3 ounces at birth.

Red Cross Drive

Kiyoshi Okano is the key man of the American Red Cross Fund Drive this year for Ewa employees. He will start the campaign on Monday, August 3. At that time, the Red Cross flag will fly below our American flag. This will serve as a reminder that the drive is on.

The Red Cross calls upon the American people for the vital funds, members, and active voluntary participation to provide the local, national, and international Red Cross health and welfare services. The slogan for 1964 is "Always There...With Your Help."

Volunteer and voluntary are the key words describing the American Red Cross, for it is the voluntary financial support of more than 46 million American coupled with the devoted and dedicated service of 2 million volunteer workers that enable the Red Cross to be always there when help is needed.

Hail the Champs!

St. Rita "B" of Nanakuli became the champs of the E.R.A. Women's Invitational Volleyball League by defeating Poni Moi of Waianae recently at the Ewa gym.

Standing - Nobu Piliialoha, Coach; Ida Kolii, Anthurium Kamaka, Anita Pua and Timmy Satot, Assistant Coach.

Missing from picture are Debra Satot, Debra Jackson, Gladys Peters, Gwen Iaone and Lillian Kaihe.

Ewa's Oldtimer

The plantation salutes TOMIYOSHI SUEDA as the "old timer" of the week who has accumulated a service record of 31 years and 1 month with this Company.

Starting his career in the Field Department on June 10, 1933, he became a Carpenter Helper in the Construction Department three years later. Shortly thereafter, Tom was transferred to the Machine Shop as a Welder Helper and two years later enrolled in the Ewa Apprentice School where he studied Mechanical Drawing, Blueprint Reading and Welding. He was promoted up the line to Steelworker Journeyman, a position he has held since 1948.

A veteran of World War II, Tom saw action in Europe with the 442nd Infantry, 232nd Engineers Combat Company. He enlisted in March, 1943 and was discharged in November, 1945. He has been treasurer of the Ewa Veterans Club for the past five years.

His wife, the former Harriet Jean Chung, is a teacher at Ewa School. They live in Honouliuli.

Just Married...

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kurizaki who were married on Saturday, July 25, at the Honpa Hongwanji Mission, Honolulu.

The bride is the former Jayne Yasui, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Takeo Yasui of Tenney Village.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Toyochi Kurizaki of Waialua.
