PRINCE JONAH KUHIO KALANIANA'OLE (1871 - 1922)

Prince Kuhio was the great-grandson of King Kaumualii, last reigning monarch of Kauai. He was the second son of High Chief David Kahalepouli Piikoi and Princess Kinoike Kekaulike. He had an older brother David Kawananakoa, and a younger brother Keliiahonui, who died in childhood.

Kuhio and David were nephews of Queen Kapiolani, the wife of King Kalakaua, and were created princes by royal proclamation at the coronation of Kalakaua and Kapiolani, by right of being Kapiolani's relatives.

Both brothers were educated in Honolulu, California, and England. At one point in history, Prince Kuhio was imprisoned because he tried to re-establish the old monarchical ways in Hawaii. He later became head of the Republican Party and in 1902 was chosen as a delegate to the U.S. Congress. He served as Delegate until his death in 1922, and is best remembered for getting Congress to enact the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, which provided homesteading for the rehabilitation of Hawaiians. Prince Kuhio also founded the Hawaiian Civic Club, a large organization, which takes an active part in the civic life of the community. His memory is revered by the Hawaiians who celebrate his birthday annually.

Prince Kuhio's Restaurant is a tribute to this great Hawaiian gentleman.
