Prerequisite(s): HWST 100 or HWST 107

Course Description: HWST 298H is a study of the traditional native practice of laau lapaau or the use of traditional Hawaiian medicinal herbs that symbolizes the native people's relationship to the land and sea, and the art of traditional healing practices. This course will introduce the student to the basic Hawaiian Medicinal plants, how to identify them by name, color, smell, taste and sight, and to properly prepare them for application. Every Thursday is a lab day to prepare mixtures, tinctures, and poultices. This HWST 298H class section (CRN 35074) is web-enhanced and requires students to have Internet access. Students will be required to use Lailima to access class resources and must be comfortable navigating basic computer operations. For additional information please contact the instructor via email (nclark@hawaii.edu).

Research Intensive courses are enriched courses that employ the scientific method in a student-centered, inquiry-based research model. These are intensive courses that provide opportunities for students to develop critical and independent thinking through experimentation. Final presentations (such as one or more of the following: research paper, PowerPoint and/or poster presentation in class, at a conference or recorded) will be required of all student participants.

This is a RESEARCH INTENSIVE course, for more information see (<http://>) or contact the instructor at mtuthill@hawaii.edu.

Research Intensive courses are enriched courses that employ the scientific method in a student-centered, inquiry-based research model. These are intensive courses that provide opportunities for students to develop critical and independent thinking through experimentation. Final presentations (such as one or more of the following: research paper, PowerPoint and/or poster presentation in class, at a conference or recorded) will be required of all student participants.

MICR 240 is a lecture/laboratory course that covers cell biology and the essential principles important to the cultivation and study of cells in tissue culture. Through lectures and laboratory experiments students will acquire a fundamental understanding of the biochemistry of the cell. Students will also acquire competence in tissue culture and experience with modern advances in biotechnology and recombinant DNA technology.

COMMENT: MICR240 if CROSS-LISTED as BIOL275L

PSY 100 Prerequisite(s): Qualification for ENG 100; qualification for MATH 24 or higher.

This is an accelerated 8-week section that allows you to complete this class in half the time of a traditional class section. This PSY 100 class section (CRN 34895) is conducted on the Internet and at Kapi'olani Community College campus on Saturdays. This is a hybrid class that flips the conventional classroom, utilizing lectures and video on the internet and face-to-face time for engaging mini-lectures and hands-on activities. Students must have regular and reliable access to the internet and email, and also be able to attend the scheduled class meeting time. For additional information, please contact the instructor via email (grossphi@hawaii.edu) and go to <http://bit.ly/PSY100>.

Students enrolling for the accelerated PSY 100 class may also register for the accelerated PSY 260 section (CRN 34896), see <http://bit.ly/PSY260a>. Students who wish to register for both PSY 100 and PSY 260 in spring 2014 and who have not previously taken PSY 100 will need to contact the instructor (grossphi@hawaii.edu) for an override. To sign up for this section after Friday, January 10, fill out an Add/Drop form, obtain instructor and department chair signatures, and bring your completed Add/Drop form to KISC in 'Ilima 102.

DS	34121	SLT 103	0	Language Teaching	3	C.Torres	21	1	0	TR	0315-0430p	ILIAHI 106	01/13-05/15

Prerequisite(s): A grade of "C" or higher or concurrent enrollment in ENG 100, OR a grade of "C" or higher or concurrent enrollment in ESL 100.

Students must do Service Learning in the Education pathway as a requirement of this course.

For additional information about this class, please contact the instructor (torresca@hawaii.edu or 734-9324).

SLT 103 introduces the post-method viewpoint of teaching in the classroom. The course will begin by identifying the students' intuitions and insights about language teaching. The students will examine ways that instruction can facilitate and accelerate language learning. The students will explore how heritage language, motivation, learning styles, variation in input, etc. can influence their teaching. As the students address the issues of language teaching, they will develop their own definitions of second language pedagogy. In the second portion of the course, students will be introduced to ethnographic case studies of language teachers and learn how to do their own ethnographic study on one teacher's classroom practices.

This SLT 103 class section (CRN 34121) will meet off-campus at Jefferson Elementary School (324 Kapahulu Avenue) from 2:15pm-4:30pm on Thursdays. Class will be held at KCC during DOE spring vacation 03/27/2013 and other days per instructor notification. Students will receive Service Learning credit for the additional hour from 2:15pm-3:15pm on Thursdays. Please email the instructor at torresca@hawaii.edu with any questions.

Comment: Students must do Service Learning in the Education pathway as a requirement of this course.

For additional information about this class, please contact the instructor (sford@hawaii.edu or 734-9327).

SLT 202B continues the exploration of classroom-based language development. SLT 202B students begin the course by exploring language skills from various perspectives and investigating the different ways that research and experts view instruction of language skills in various classroom settings. SLT 202B students also explore the relationship between pedagogy and language skills development and compile a portfolio of strategies for helping learners develop language skills.

SLT 290 introduces students to strategies for using assessment to facilitate second language development. SLT 290 students begin by examining issues associated with assessing content-area language needs of students. Then the students examine issues associated with assessing materials appropriate for facilitating language development of students in content-area classrooms. The students also do a study of language needs and activities in a content-area classroom.
