CHRISTIANS IN AN UNCHRISTIAN WORLD

G. A. Studder Kennedy was a Chaplain with the British troops in World War I. He wrote quite a few poems which were widely quoted. One of them is called "The Carpenter":

I wonder what He charged for chairs at Nazareth,
 And did men try to beat Him down,
 And boast about it in the town:
 "I bought it cheap, for half-a-crown
 From that daft Carpenter!"
 And did they promise, and not pay,
 "I'll pay you sure, some other day...."
 O, did they break His heart that way,
 Our Lord, the Carpenter?
 I wonder - did He have bad debts,
 And did He know my fears and frets?
 The gospel-writer here forgets
 To tell about the Carpenter.
 But that is what I'd like to know....
 Ah, Christ in glory, here below
 Men lie and cheat each other so,
 It's hard to be a Carpenter!

I'm sure that each of us has wished this was a more Christian world. If only the nations would adjust their differences in a spirit of Christian goodwill! If only men would regard one another as brothers under one Father God! If only our environment was more Christian, we might all become better carpenters and neighbors and parents and citizens! But in a world as un-Christian as ours, what can one Christian accomplish? Even Jesus got himself crucified for trying it. But the plain, undeniable fact is, that our Christian faith has come down to us because Christ-filled men were not panic-stricken or cowardly in the face of opposition and evil. They bore witness to Christ, and His way, His truth, His life, in spite of an un-Christian environment. As the old hymn puts it, "Faith of Our Fathers, living still, in spite of dungeon, fire and sword". You would not have the Christian church today, or any Christian missions, or any Christian followers, if there had not been, all down through the years since Calvary, Christians who witnessed to their faith in an un-Christian world. Theirs was an in-spite-of faith. Theirs was a be-true-till-death faith. Theirs was a faith that would not be shaken by untoward events and suffering and hardship.

Moreover, from the looks of things, a Christian world is not going to be achieved in your lifetime or mine. Thus the Christian duty that falls upon you and me and all other Christians today, is to be witnesses for Christ in-spite-of the world of our day. For there will be a Christian church tomorrow, and Christian missions, and Christian followers in the days to come, only if we are Christians in an un-Christian world. It is still hard to be a Carpenter, but Christ did not call us to an easy discipleship. He said, (Matthew 16:24) "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me".

Ewa Mothers Collect Easter Seal Drive $382.00 for the March of Dimes

Ewa Mothers' March on Polio did a commendable job during their recent collection drive for March of Dimes and the people of the community were most generous in their contributions. Mrs. Olga Wiley, area chairman of Ewa district, reported that a total of $381.95 was collected from Ewa.

Also, a report from Mrs. Jean Paraz, chairman of Ewa Beach district, shows that a total of $466.57 was this area's contributions to the New March of Dimes.

The 1961 Easter Seal campaign officially started yesterday and will continue through April 2nd. The Hawaii Chapter of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults in this once-a-year drive asks for your financial help to serve the physically handicapped, regardless of race, creed, age or crippling condition.

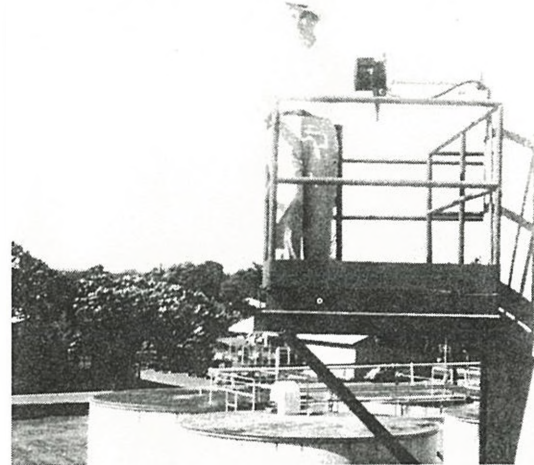

The Chapter operates and co-sponsors an extensive network of centers and programs offering direct services to the crippled through treatment and rehabilitation centers, itinerant mobile and home therapy programs sheltered workshops, equipment loan pool, resident and day camps, and nursery schools.

Last year more than 5,000 handicapped persons in Hawaii, were helped on their way to rehabilitation. They received direct services from the local Easter Seal Society in nine facilities throughout the Islands.

Mail your contribution to Oahu Society for Crippled Children and Adults, P.O. Box 2318, Honolulu 4, Hawaii.

Social Security Monthly Visit

Satoru Terada, Field Representative of the Honolulu Social Security office, will be at the plantation industrial relations office on Monday, March 6 at 1:00 p.m.

Ed Ferguson, chief mill engineer, points out the protruding end of the smoke indicator installed in the smoke stack.

Smoke Density Indicators to keep Air Pollution Down to Minimum Installed

Smoke density indicators were installed in our mill smoke stacks during the last off-season to keep air pollution down to a minimum. These smoke indicators instrument located in the fire-room which records the amount of smoke coming out of the stacks 24 hours a day. By watching this recording instrument, the fireman can regulate dampers, air supply, etc., on the boilers to keep air pollution down.

The smoke detectors are located in the smoke stacks 20 feet above the boiler flue inlets and the recording instrument is mounted on a panel along with other instruments on the firing floor.

Sabas Bacon shows you the recording instrument mounted on the fireroom instrument panel.

Sugar Industry To Award Trip To Young Scientist

Students from all intermediate and high schools in the state who have won their school competition are eligible to participate. Science fair officials expect some 160 entries.

The "Sugar Award" trip will take the recipient to Kansas City, Missouri, for the National competition May 10-13. The trip will include two days in San Francisco, four days at the fair, a side trip to Chicago, a flight back to Denver and a train trip from there back to San Francisco for the flight home.

To most car owners, changing tires is a simple operation. However, to our cane hauler shop mechanics it's a big deal. Changing a blown-out mammoth-sized tire of a cane hauler weighing 1500 pounds requires a fingerlift and a team of three highly skilled mechanics.

Last Friday morning, a hauler with a full load of cane (25 tons) driven by Alfred Rule blew out near the Tenney ball park junction. The mechanics, Shungo Jo, William Mori and Louis Pereira, from the hauler shop replaced the blown-out tire with a new one and had the hauler back on the road to resume operations in good time.

15 YEARS TO DIE!

It was an obituary that really set you to thinking: "Local man, age 36, dies after 15 years in hospital, following auto accident in which he was totally disabled."

Fifteen years of staring at the same ceiling; 180 months of complete dependence upon others; 780 weeks of hope-erosion, with expenses towering to crowd everything else off the skyline; 5475 days of waiting for the night; 5475 nights of waiting for the day; 131,400 hours of four walls, fading flowers, medicinal smells, useless sympathy; 7,844,000 minutes of vegetation with roots withering in hopelessness, spirit shrinking in stagnation; 473,040,000 seconds of death before burial.

And probably because of some "little" fault that you might be committing every day of your driving life. Such as failure to glance left and right, or forgetting to check your rear-view mirror. Squeezing one more trip out of bald tires. Crowding the car ahead. Leaning on luck in a blind spot. Trying to average 60 on a 50 mph road, or in 50 mph conditions. Or just plain, blind assumption that the other driver will do the right thing.

Death at 36 after 15 years of dying! Within that period of time a man usually marries, has a family, climbs upward in the world, travels, plays, begins to mature, enjoys a million sights, sounds, sensations.

Over these same 15 years, this man was a castaway on a lonely bed-island. He absorbed tasteless food, slept a desperate sleep, suffered, cursed, cried, felt the bitterness kink his insides into knots at such ordinary sounds as laughter, free footsteps and hearty talk.

For every person who dies in traffic smashups, many others spend agonizing weeks, months, life-times of disability.

You risk this as well as a quick ending when you commit those "little" driving errors. Do you realize this? Do you know what errors are yours, and what you must do to correct them?
