Hawaii's Sugar Quota Takes Another Cut

Hawaii's sugar quota for Mainland consumption is now 730,000 short tons—down 65,000 tons from the previous quota of 765,000 tons set last May.

The cut in quota was announced recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which said, in part, that "The quantity of Hawaiian sugar which can arrive at United States ports before December 31, 1958, is now expected to approximate 700,000 tons since a portion of the year's production will occur in late December and approximately 43,000 tons of sugar will be needed for consumption in the Islands."

The official estimate of the Hawaiian sugar industry for the 1958 crop is 820,000 tons. The production for 1957 was 1,064,646 tons. If Hawaii does produce more than the new quota, it can still market the greater amount on the Mainland.

Here's how Hawaii's quota deficit of 65,000 tons was projected among other sugar-producing areas (also included is a deficit of 9,449 tons for the Virgin Islands):

Domestic Beet Sugar - 28,316 short tons, raw value.
Mainland Cane Sugar - 8,713 short tons, raw value.
Cuba - 37,420 short tons, raw value.

No License Given for Corresponding Courses in Practical Nursing

The Territory of Hawaii Board for the Licensing of Nurses has requested that the following information be passed on to the women of our community.

Corresponding courses in practical nursing do not qualify a person for a license as a practical nurse. There are several magazines with national distribution which advertise such courses and some of the women in Hawaii have taken these courses only to find out later that they cannot qualify.

The practical nursing program at Kapiolani Technical School, 620 Pensacola Street, Honolulu, is the only accredited school in the Territory.

here's how you "govern" the government

Much as we revere and respect this system of ours, we don't want the government running our lives.

The best government is one that's closest to the people. And there's just one way to keep it under control.

Vote.
 Vote to elect the ones you want representing you. To keep the ones who are doing you proud. To get rid of the ones who are not so hot.

You're the boss, however you vote. No matter who's elected, you pay their salaries and paint their offices and keep watching over them as they work.

Even if the ones you're "agin' happen to win, they're obligated to the minority, too. They're servants of all the people, not just those who voted for them.

Your vote prods, approves, protests, demands, restrains, rewards.

Vote—so you and your children after you always can.

See You at the POLLS!

Sugar News Elsewhere

NICARAGUA---More sugar than ever is being grown in this small South American country.

This year's crop poses a surplus problem. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which quotes the National Development Institute's latest estimate, Nicaragua will produce 63,400 short tons of sugar for 1958.

Nicaraguan consumption, though, is expected to run only about 38,000 short tons, leaving another 25,400 tons to export. But under the terms of the International Sugar Agreement, Nicaragua's world quota is only 5,512 tons. It's U.S. quota is 13,883 tons. This poses the problem of what to do with six thousand tons of the sweet stuff.

Nicaragua, which has a sugar surplus problem this year, faces one of even greater magnitude next year. Forecasts call for a crop of more than 75,000 short tons.

Increased use of fertilizers and irrigation is believed responsible for the increase in Nicaraguan sugar production.

BARBADOS---An official estimate of Barbados' 1958 sugar output places the production at 171,248 short tons.

This amounts to a cut of 57,820 tons from last year's record crop of 229,068 according to the U.S.D.A. The drop in production is the result of a

Fire Prevention Week October 5-11

The week of October 5 to 11 is Fire Prevention Week. It is the oldest Presidential proclamation "week" in the United States. This year marks its 36th anniversary.

Over a half-million American homes are hit by fire each year --60 homes every hour. More than 6,000 people, mostly the young and the aged, die in these fires--17 every day.

The tragedy is that virtually all this death and destruction is preventable--by making a habit of the simple rules of fire safety.

Let's be sure that fire doesn't damage our home or injure any member of our family. Smoking is one of the major causes of fire--40 per cent of all fires are blamed on careless smokers.

So, keep plenty of ash trays on hand. And use them!
