

Our "Think-Tank" is ideally designed for Corporate Meetings, Sales Seminars, Workshops, Management Conferences, Colloquiums, and business groups up to 50 persons. We can provide your meeting with projectors (16mm or 35mm slide), screens, flip charts, microphones, or whatever you might need for a successful and constructive conference.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Ninety-five thatch-roofed hales, spaced for privacy, form a Polynesian village of huts styled after those found in the South Pacific. Interiors have every modern luxury of the finest resort hotels. Coffee makers and small refrigerators in every room. But no telephones, radios, or television. It's often said our greatest assets are the things we don't have. Phones are at the office if you really must contact the outside world!

OUR SETTING

Kona Village has some 12,000 acres separating it from the rest of the world. Centuries away in its remote setting at historic Kaupulehu, yet just 5½ miles from the Keahole-Kona Airport on the Big Island of Hawaii.

WHAT TO DO AFTER MEETINGS

Sail, swim, paddle an outrigger, or take a glass-bottom boat excursion. Play tennis, or just laze away the rest of the day in a hammock. Take a guided tour to the resort's 15-acre petroglyph site, or take part in demonstrations of ancient arts and crafts—lauhala weaving, featherwork, lei making, or hula. All these activities at no extra charge!

WHAT TO BRING BESIDES A SWIMSUIT

Come casual and pack the same. There are no dress-up occasions at Kona Village, and aloha attire is always appropriate. Some evenings are cool, so bring a sweater or light jacket. The Island Copra & Trading Co. general store carries Hawaiian wear, swimwear, film, sundries, gifts, and reading material.

DINNER & COCKTAILS

Breakfast, lunch, and dinner are served in the Hale Moana Dining Room. The Hale Ho'okipa offers an ideal setting for our Luau and Paniolo Steakfry, each a weekly, optional dining event. Enjoy cocktails at the Shipwreck Bar at poolside or in the Hale Samoa longhouse. Entertainment nightly.

MEETINGS & BANQUETS

The Hale Ho'okipa may be reserved (space available) for meetings, special banquets, or social functions.

Daily Group Rates (Full American Plan)

include your superior category thatched hale, three sumptuous meals daily, meeting room, and use of all recreational facilities. Sorry cocktails aren't included, but we promise you won't mind a bit.
